What do we do?

Cleaning waste water is the action of separating the water from everything else. Common pollutants include: sewage, fats, oils, greases, chemicals, heavy metals and pathogens. While traditional means, such as filters, other bacteria and chemicals are frequently used, they are unable to perform effectively in a safe or economical way.

Ergofito cleans waste water biologically, decomposing all pollutants and organic matter into proteins and amino acids. We are able to operate in any aerobic environment.

- In nature - such as polluted oceans, rivers, or lakes.
- Or in closed filtering systems - such as sewage or effluent treating plants - requiring only an aerated tank in which to operate.

Nature in a bottle.
